

INTRODUCING SKIPWAIT

Free job referrals. A warmer way in.

Connect with people inside the companies you want to join.
A real introduction. Not another application into the unknown.

YOUR NEXT CHAPTER STARTS WITH A CONNECTION.

No referral fees. Private by default. No job guarantees.

OPEN DOORS AT LAUNCH

Start somewhere real.

People at these companies have told SkipWait they are open to referral requests. Availability can change, and every person chooses each ask.

THREE STEPS. ONE OPEN DOOR.

Your way in, made simple.

Find a company. Make an ask. Meet someone inside.

01

Find a company
Start with where you want to work.

02

Ask for a referral
Share the role and why you fit.

03

Connect privately
Talk, then follow your next steps.

Look for a company with someone available to refer. You can explore before signing in.

Find your way in →

FOR THE PEOPLE ON THE INSIDE

You could be someone's first open door.

A few minutes of your time could help someone take their next step.
Choose who you help. Set your own capacity. Keep your identity private until you accept.

Become a referrer ↗

- ✓ Your name is never public.
- ✓ You choose every connection.
- ✓ No money changes hands.
- ✓ Always on your terms.

TRUST, WITHOUT THE FINE PRINT

Your career is personal. Your connections should be too.

Referrer names are shared only after they accept your request.
Resumes stay private until acceptance. And a referral is an introduction—not a promise of an interview or a job.

Our approach to help & safety ↗

A FEW GOOD QUESTIONS

Before you take the next step.

Are job referrals really free?	—
Yes. No payments between seekers and referrers, no referral commission, and no paid priority. A referral is a voluntary introduction, not a purchase.
Do I need to know someone at the company?	+
What does verification mean?	+
Does a referral guarantee an interview?	+

SMALL CONNECTION. BIG NEXT STEP.

What's on the other side?

Explore companies ↗

Referrals are free. Always.

BEFORE YOU ASK

Bring the role. We'll guide the request.

Find a role on the company's own careers site, copy its link, and explain why your experience fits. A focused request is easier to review.

- 1

Use the exact job link
This keeps the request specific and current.
- 2

Make your fit easy to see
Share the most relevant experience, not a generic pitch.
- 3

Respect the decision
People choose what they can support. A pass stays private.

What is shared, and when?
Your job link and note are shared with an available referrer. Personal contact details and documents remain private until a request is accepted.

TRUST IS THE WHOLE POINT

Help & safety.

Clear boundaries. Real people. No fine-print surprises.

▼ Are referrals really free?

Yes. No payments between job seekers and referrers, no commissions, and no paid priority. A referral is a voluntary introduction, not a purchase.

► Who can see a referrer's name?

► Does a referral guarantee an interview?

► What does work-email verification mean?

► When is my resume shared?

► What if someone asks me to pay?

Your next move, on your terms.

Is asking for a referral really free?

Yes. Asking and referring are free forever. Paid plans only add preparation tools and more open asks at once.

How many asks can I have open?

Why did my ask expire?

Does a referral guarantee an interview?

How do I become a referrer?

My company uses a different email domain.

Will seekers see my name?

Do credits expire?

Does paying move me up the queue?

How do I cancel?

Who can see my resume?

How do I delete my account?

Someone asked me for money.

How do I block someone?

Still stuck?

A person replies within 1 working day.

What you get

Referrals from people who know the work

Employees choose who to refer. You get context, not cold applications.

See real demand

Which roles and functions people ask about at your company — aggregated and private.

Route straight to hiring

Accepted referrals flow into your ATS with the job link and the employee's note.

Run referral campaigns

Rally teams around hard-to-fill roles, with fair rules built in.

✓ Candidates never pay to be referred

✓ Employees can decline without pressure

✓ No paid ranking of candidates

✓ Privacy-first: names shared only on acceptance

COMMUNITY GUIDELINES

Guidelines

Last updated 6 Oct 2026

The short version

- Never pay or charge for a referral.
- Ask for one specific role, honestly.
- Passing is always okay. Pressure is never okay.
- Report anything that feels off — it's confidential.

Referrals are free

For seekers

For referrers

Respect

Scams and impersonation

What happens if rules are broken

1. Referrals are free

No money, gifts, or favours — before or after. Seekers: if anyone asks for payment, report it. Referrers: a thank-you note is the only acceptable reward.

2. For seekers

Link the official job posting. Write a short, specific note. Be truthful about experience and work authorization.

Don't send identical asks in bulk or follow up more than once if there's no reply.

3. For referrers

Refer only through your employer's official process and only people you're comfortable recommending.

Don't promise outcomes, interview slots, or 'pushing' a profile. Keep your verification current.

4. Respect

No harassment, discrimination, sexual content, or contacting people off-platform without their agreement.

5. Scams and impersonation

Fake jobs, requests for fees or ID documents, and pretending to work somewhere lead to immediate removal.

6. What happens if rules are broken

Depending on severity: a warning, a temporary restriction, or a ban. Every decision is reviewed by a person and can be appealed within 14 days.

Questions? Write to hello@skipwait.me (placeholder address).

TERMS OF SERVICE

Terms

Last updated 6 Oct 2026

The short version

- Asking for and giving referrals is free. Always.
- Paid plans and credits buy preparation tools — never queue position or acceptance.
- Referrers decide freely. Companies decide hiring. We don't promise jobs.
- Be honest about who you are and where you work.

Who can use SkipWaitReferralsPlans, credits and paymentsYour contentConductNo guaranteesChanges and contact

1. Who can use SkipWait

You must be at least 18 and legally able to work or seek work where you live.

One account per person. Referrers must verify a current work email for each company they refer into.

2. Referrals

A referral is a referrer's personal recommendation through their employer's own process. SkipWait is not the employer, recruiter, or agent.

Nobody may request, offer, or accept money, gifts, or favours in exchange for a referral. Doing so ends your account.

3. Plans, credits and payments

Plans renew monthly or yearly until cancelled. Cancelling stops the next renewal; you keep access until the period ends.

Purchased credits don't expire. Plan credits roll over as described on the Plans page. Credits have no cash value.

Paying never changes queue order, visibility to referrers, or a referrer's decision.

4. Your content

You own what you upload. You let us store and show it only to the people you choose, to run the service.

Don't upload anything you don't have the right to share, including confidential employer material.

5. Conduct

Follow the Community Guidelines. We may warn, restrict, or remove accounts that break them, and you can appeal within 14 days.

6. No guarantees

SkipWait is provided as is. We aren't responsible for hiring decisions, a referrer's actions, or third-party job postings.

7. Changes and contact

We'll tell you about material changes at least 14 days before they apply.

Questions? Write to hello@skipwait.me (placeholder address).

PRIVACY POLICY

Privacy.

Last updated 6 Oct 2026

The short version

- Your resume and name are hidden until a referrer accepts your ask.
- We store a one-way fingerprint of work emails — never show them.
- We don't sell your data or show ads.
- Download or delete everything from Settings at any time.

What we collectWhy we use itWho can see whatWork-email verificationYour rightsHow long we keep itInternational transfers

1. What we collect

Account details (name, email, sign-in method), profile and work you add, asks and messages, and payment receipts (card details stay with our payment provider).

Basic device and usage data to keep the service secure and working.

2. Why we use it

To match asks with verified referrers, deliver messages and notifications, process payments, prevent abuse, and improve the product. We use AI tools only on content you send to them.

3. Who can see what

Referrers see your role, note and pinned work. Your name, resume and contact appear only after they accept.

Seekers see a referrer's company and function. Their name appears only after acceptance.

Public profiles are visible according to the setting you choose: public, link only, or private.

4. Work-email verification

We send a one-time code to prove you can receive email at your company. We keep a one-way fingerprint, the company, and the date — not the address or the code.

5. Your rights

Access, correct, export, or delete your data from Settings. Depending on where you live (for example under GDPR or India's DPDP Act) you may have further rights; contact us to use them.

6. How long we keep it

While your account is open. After deletion, data is erased within 30 days, except records we must keep by law, such as payment records.

7. International transfers

SkipWait is global. Data may be processed in other countries with safeguards required by law.

Questions? Write to hello@skipwait.me (placeholder address).

THREE STEPS. ONE OPEN DOOR.

Your way in, made simple.

Find a company. Make an ask. Meet someone inside.

 01 Find a company
Start with where you want to work. 02 Ask for a referral
Share the role and why you fit. 03 Connect privately
Talk, then follow your next steps. Look for a company with someone available to refer. You can explore before signing in.Find your way in →

FOR THE PEOPLE ON THE INSIDE

You could be someone's first open door.

A few minutes of your time could help someone take their next step. Choose who you help. Set your own capacity. Keep your identity private until you accept.

Become a referrer ↗

- ✓ Your name is never public.
- ✓ You choose every connection.
- ✓ No money changes hands.
- ✓ Always on your terms.

TRUST, WITHOUT THE FINE PRINT

Your career is personal. Your connections should be too.

Referrer names are shared only after they accept your request. Resumes stay private until acceptance. And a referral is an introduction—not a promise of an interview or a job.

Our approach to help & safety ↗

A FEW GOOD QUESTIONS

Before you take the next step.

- Are job referrals really free? —
- Yes. No payments between seekers and referrers, no referral commission, and no paid priority. A referral is a voluntary introduction, not a purchase.
- Do I need to know someone at the company? +
- What does verification mean? +
- Does a referral guarantee an interview? +

TRUST IS THE WHOLE POINT

Help & safety.

Clear boundaries. Real people. No fine-print surprises.

▼ Are referrals really free?

Yes. No payments between job seekers and referrers, no commissions, and no paid priority. A referral is a voluntary introduction, not a purchase.

► Who can see a referrer’s name?

► Does a referral guarantee an interview?

► What does work-email verification mean?

► When is my resume shared?

► What if someone asks me to pay?

Your next move, on your terms.

Is asking for a referral really free?

Yes. Asking and referring are free forever. Paid plans only add preparation tools and more open asks at once.

How many asks can I have open?

Why did my ask expire?

Does a referral guarantee an interview?

How do I become a referrer?

My company uses a different email domain.

Will seekers see my name?

Do credits expire?

Does paying move me up the queue?

How do I cancel?

Who can see my resume?

How do I delete my account?

Someone asked me for money.

How do I block someone?

What you get

Referrals from people who know the work

Employees choose who to refer. You get context, not cold applications.

See real demand

Which roles and functions people ask about at your company — aggregated and private.

Route straight to hiring

Accepted referrals flow into your ATS with the job link and the employee's note.

Run referral campaigns

Rally teams around hard-to-fill roles, with fair rules built in.

✓ Candidates never pay to be referred

✓ No paid ranking of candidates

✓ Employees can decline without pressure

✓ Privacy-first: names shared only on acceptance

COMMUNITY GUIDELINES

Guidelines

Last updated 6 Oct 2026

The short version

- Never pay or charge for a referral.
- Ask for one specific role, honestly.
- Passing is always okay. Pressure is never okay.
- Report anything that feels off — it's confidential.

1. Referrals are free

No money, gifts, or favours — before or after.
Seekers: if anyone asks for payment, report it.
Referrers: a thank-you note is the only acceptable reward.

2. For seekers

Link the official job posting. Write a short, specific note. Be truthful about experience and work authorization.

Don't send identical asks in bulk or follow up more than once if there's no reply.

3. For referrers

Refer only through your employer's official process and only people you're comfortable recommending.

Don't promise outcomes, interview slots, or 'pushing' a profile. Keep your verification current.

4. Respect

No harassment, discrimination, sexual content, or contacting people off-platform without their agreement.

5. Scams and impersonation

Fake jobs, requests for fees or ID documents, and pretending to work somewhere lead to immediate removal.

6. What happens if rules are broken

Depending on severity: a warning, a temporary restriction, or a ban. Every decision is reviewed by a person and can be appealed within 14 days.

Questions? Write to hello@skipwait.me (placeholder address).

TERMS OF SERVICE

Terms

Last updated 6 Oct 2026

The short version

- Asking for and giving referrals is free. Always.
- Paid plans and credits buy preparation tools — never queue position or acceptance.
- Referrers decide freely. Companies decide hiring. We don't promise jobs.
- Be honest about who you are and where you work.

1. Who can use SkipWait

You must be at least 18 and legally able to work or seek work where you live.

One account per person. Referrers must verify a current work email for each company they refer into.

2. Referrals

A referral is a referrer's personal recommendation through their employer's own process. SkipWait is not the employer, recruiter, or agent.

Nobody may request, offer, or accept money, gifts, or favours in exchange for a referral. Doing so ends your account.

3. Plans, credits and payments

Plans renew monthly or yearly until cancelled. Cancelling stops the next renewal; you keep access until the period ends.

Purchased credits don't expire. Plan credits roll over as described on the Plans page. Credits have no cash value.

Paying never changes queue order, visibility to referrers, or a referrer's decision.

4. Your content

You own what you upload. You let us store and show it only to the people you choose, to run the service.

Don't upload anything you don't have the right to share, including confidential employer material.

5. Conduct

Follow the Community Guidelines. We may warn, restrict, or remove accounts that break them, and you can appeal within 14 days.

6. No guarantees

SkipWait is provided as is. We aren't responsible for hiring decisions, a referrer's actions, or third-party job postings.

7. Changes and contact

We'll tell you about material changes at least 14 days before they apply.

Questions? Write to hello@skipwait.me (placeholder address).

Privacy.

Last updated 6 Oct 2026

The short version

- Your resume and name are hidden until a referrer accepts your ask.
- We store a one-way fingerprint of work emails — never show them.
- We don't sell your data or show ads.
- Download or delete everything from Settings at any time.

1. What we collect

Account details (name, email, sign-in method), profile and work you add, asks and messages, and payment receipts (card details stay with our payment provider).

Basic device and usage data to keep the service secure and working.

2. Why we use it

To match asks with verified referrers, deliver messages and notifications, process payments, prevent abuse, and improve the product. We use AI tools only on content you send to them.

3. Who can see what

Referrers see your role, note and pinned work. Your name, resume and contact appear only after they accept.

Seekers see a referrer's company and function. Their name appears only after acceptance.

Public profiles are visible according to the setting you choose: public, link only, or private.

4. Work-email verification

We send a one-time code to prove you can receive email at your company. We keep a one-way fingerprint, the company, and the date — not the address or the code.

5. Your rights

Access, correct, export, or delete your data from Settings. Depending on where you live (for example under GDPR or India's DPDP Act) you may have further rights; contact us to use them.

6. How long we keep it

While your account is open. After deletion, data is erased within 30 days, except records we must keep by law, such as payment records.

7. International transfers

SkipWait is global. Data may be processed in other countries with safeguards required by law.

Questions? Write to hello@skipwait.me (placeholder address).
